If something is just, it conforms to that which is factual and faithful to reality, and is therefore fair, and true. That just is always authentic, always moral, always good.
 -  Neil 02:03
It can be nothing else. It is what any rational person would want, both for themselves, and indeed for everyone.
 -  Kramer 02:12
Justice is the conservation of what is just the world we live in was designed to teach us all about justice from the foundation of the earth, from the beginning to observe and consider what is fair to learn the vital importance of taking responsibility for oneself how to hold one self accountable to judge ourselves by the highest standards now, as we go through life week by week to properly discriminate between good and evil, right and wrong, true and false. Like the art expert, who can at a glance, tell the genuine from the forgery, which everyone else is amazed at. Because on the surface To the untrained eye, the two paintings may look identical, the expert can see what is just because he's looking for it.

N

Neil 03:07

The Living knowledge of justice is not found on pages and on screens, but in the blood, sweat and tears of life itself. comprehend comprehending justice is essential to our education and classroom Earth. It is the nucleus of spiritual awareness. Justice is the process of the world being brought into final balance.

K

Kramer 03:38

And we each play a part in that billions of people from every nation over millenia, choosing between what is just and what is unjust, privately, quietly for themselves in their own lives.

N

Neil 03:52

determining their own path by virtue of their God given freewill. The greatest gift in the universe, everyone with equal access to what is real, regardless of circumstances, regardless of race, gender, education, background history conditions. f every single human soul equally bestowed with the power to choose that which is just small, large, light, heavy, simple, complex. We can always No.

K

Kramer 04:30

Strange then, is it not that evidently most people choose to live on truthfully to not know because they feel safer that way. They go along with other people's ideas about life, which they haven't really thought about very carefully for themselves, which to me is inconceivable. To not study out anything in porn for oneself is madness.

N

Neil 04:55

It is asking for trouble. yet so many people feel deeply insecure and uncertain about making their own mind up about things. shy about investigating reality for themselves. So they just go along, along with what is popular, colorful, emotive, trending, engaging, diverting, comforting, safe. to these people justice is a nice, abstract idea far off in the distance, something to do with courts and law. But as a close spoke thing, in the felt experience of their own daily life, it is a full

K

Kramer 05:42

Why? Because real living spiritual justice brings truth. And that collapse is their strategy of going along with things. Whether it is their manner of liberalism, which we'll speak about more in a moment, or new agenus, or secular humanism, or some religious cult, or a life dedicated just to personal pleasure. Justice messes all that up. So it is avoided.

N

Neil 06:13

Not everyone chooses to live like this. Thank God. some people are deeply committed to conserving justice, both in their own life, in what is all around them, and to contribute into the wider field of the just such a person is passionate about the excellent and natural state of what is moral. What is fair, what is right. What is right is simply what is true. But isn't true. It's not right. Cannot be even if it wanted to. Two plus two equals four. That is right. Not three. That's wrong.

K

Kramer 06:55

It's not up for debate. It's reality. It's right. Water is wet. Stealing is immoral. Fire is hot. Blood is red, Eagles fly wind blows. Any ideas to the contrary do not conform with reality, they are unjust, they are wrong. Whether we like the answers or not, it doesn't make any difference. Our preferences don't change reality. We don't make our own reality. We don't all have our own truth. It is made it is here. It is absolute it is objective, you either have some level of contact with it greater or lesser, or you don't. You may choose your path of navigation, but the terrain is pre existent.

N

Neil 07:45

A man who appreciates and upholds rightness in life is a righteous man. That's literally what it means. Such a person is naturally dedicated to conserving justice. Because if you want to know about reality and learn from its sacred teaching, you will find yourself living what is true. And a person devoted to this conservationism might be called a conservative, not in the sense of a political outlook. I don't mean like Margaret Thatcher or George Bush, you see at root conservatism is a spiritual outlook. The theory and practice of conserving justice, balance equity truth.

K

Kramer 08:32

In this way, a conservative realize is that the entire enterprise of creation, life itself is focused on the moral and spiritual education of human beings. The freewill choices of a person taken together over a lifetime proves where the heart, mind, spirit and deeds were pointed that they point to good or evil. Did they love the truth? Did they earnestly seek to know the maker?

N

Neil 09:03

Justice is whole in itself. It doesn't need a qualifying prefix. Anytime words are stuck in front of the word justice, they only diminish it. There's no such thing as social justice or racial justice or economic justice or healthcare justice or gender justice. They are the false constructs of identity politics, whereby any arbitrary group can claim reparations from an opposing identity group. African from Asian poor from rich sick from well male from female short from tall, fat from thin disabled from able bodied, old from young stupid.

K

Kramer 09:46

identity politics, critical race theory, social justice, political correctness, all that complete rubbish purposefully absurd. Empire trying to trick and disorient you. Wanting to divide us to blame and fight and complain and attack one another. Whilst Of course they look on in amusement at just how easily we lose ourselves in our own unnecessary chaos. Shame on us. Don't be one of those people. Think, think, be straight, tell the truth. It matters. Indeed the day is coming for everyone. When you're embodied truthfulness, your mature love, and your impulse for justice will matter more than anything else in the universe. Final Judgment, the account books balanced. Those who chose to know those who insisted upon truth at all costs. Those who chose to know God, those who chose to remain ignorant. Those who insisted upon avoidance at all costs, those who chose to know nothing.

N

Neil 10:21

K

Kramer 11:05

Justice is at the heart of spiritual life. Everyone treated according to their choices, then morality that deeds, atonement, growth, honesty, ultimate serene equity, you reap what you sow perfect justice. Only the evil would fear such a thing. Our destiny is always in our hands. I am reminded that there's always new people coming to my work.

N

Neil 12:09

So, as I'm going to refer to Empire many times during this recording, let me take a moment or two to define this term. Of course, this will be a brand new description for some listeners. But even for people very familiar with my terminology, I think you'll learn a few new things. Empire is the human administration of a negative supernatural force.

K

Kramer 12:37

When I use the word Empire, I'm denoting both an ideology and a group, both seeking to contain world society by restricting humans to a lower intellectual, physical, emotional and moral condition. Empire is old, influential, collectivist and evil. It is highlighted in the book of Daniel, where we see four beasts represent in the Babylonian media, Persian, Greek and Roman Empires.

N

Neil 13:07

And we see that the Roman Empire transferred its reins of power from the Emperor's to the papacy. power that was once militarily applied, now culturally applied, far more insidious, and controlling that way. And in this sense, we are still subject to that same evil empire today. romanism did not stop Imperium in Imperial, an empire within an empire.

K

Kramer 13:40

Let's not funny about with this empire is the working of Satan, a real supernatural, genuine metaphysical entity in whom evil is personified and anchored. His job is essentially to turn people away from God, and in so doing indirectly to turn them to himself. Satan is not God's adversary, God could disintegrate him with the click of his fingers. Satan is our adversary, utilized by God to test us.

N

Neil 14:16

Satan is the tempter the traducere the traitor and he seeks to mold us into His pattern, taking as many down with him into the lake of fire deletion vortex as possible. I believe the spiritual being of Satan voluntarily commenced his office of evil and God accepted it. Evil is chosen by freewill beings, angels demons Nephilim humans, not necessitated by God. Empire requires the implicit consent of the people to function It needs us to agree to its malice and treachery. It requires us to become complicit in it.

K

Kramer 15:09

So through this profound cultural and social manipulation over generations, people are persuaded into agreeing to their own spiritual incarceration. And the primary power of empire lies not in its might or cunning, but in its invisibility. And people who are totally heedless of its presence don't comprehend their own construction. And today in present times, Empire uses predominantly left wing ideologies to instill its collectivism and relativism into government, education, business, news, entertainment, and through those things, of course, therefore, into our heads. And even though right now Empire is removing its cloak of invisibility and revealing itself, incredibly, people in their millions still give themselves to this literally satanic Empire. staggering true prophesized, calculated, known, chosen, sad.

N

Neil 16:07

Is Empire synonymous with the deep state, the Cabal, the New World Order, globalism, internationalism, and all that kind of thing. Yes, pretty much components of Empire, I'd say, but to have a full conception of empire to really understand it, you must comprehend its supernatural route. Because you see, it's not about money and power and control. It's about souls.

K

Kramer 16:49

One of the main reasons The world is in such a pickle right now, is due to an approach to life and society that we call liberalism. When I was in my early teens, I thought a liberal was someone who was sort of open minded and easygoing, interested in improving things into like animal welfare and green environmentalism and healthy food and all that and perhaps even was a bit of a busy body but of a do gooder, but was nonetheless a pretty decent person. So for me, at that time, a liberal was no big deal.

N

Neil 17:27

Over the following three decades, I discovered that I was wrong in thinking those things. Sadly, I realized that my view was, in fact, nothing more than the result of Imperial conditioning, and was 100%. False.

K

Kramer 17:47

I learned that liberalism from its inception was designed to masquerade as something good, whilst actually doing something very harmful indeed, harmful to everyone with a left, right center, apolitical, impartial, doesn't matter, everyone.

N

Neil 18:06

And so in this recording, amongst other things, I'd like to spend a little time exploring with as much common sense and honesty and lucidity as I have. Why liberalism is so disingenuous, because I think that that's at the heart of many of the problems right now that are kind of spiraling all around us. So to begin with, let's first take a very, super zoomed out view on this whole business of philosophically detached perspective from which we can and ought to exercise a very healthy degree of reasoned compassion.

K

Kramer 18:47

liberalism is a trick Empire uses to exploit fragile and gullible people, mostly target and people in great emotional pain, people bereft of spiritual substance, and who are therefore somewhat empty inside and because of that are desperately looking for something to fill themselves. And piou seeks to install liberalism into such people who are troubled, anxious, indignant, and starving for something to believe in something to belong to.

N

Neil 19:25

Empire looks especially for that kind of profile. Because it knows that a person's need to belong to something is a very profound instinct, indeed, an empire mercilessly and cruelly exploits that instinct. And so we see this distorted emphasis on the individuation the purposeful diminishment of a person's sense of individuality and freewill and with a person's sense of self d value They're much easier to heard and steer. they gravitate into the Imperial collective, where the principles and identity of empire as seemingly more important than one's own.

K

Kramer 20:17

So from this neutral vantage point, we can be a bit more understanding and patient with those who have fallen into this trap. Especially as now, I'm going to articulate some quite challenging things. liberalism is a lifestyle choice that induces people to adjourn their own internal struggle, and instead project their suffering onto someone else. The more trouble the person is, the more gratifying the transfer.

N

Neil 20:50

In this sense, liberalism is a fantasy cult for people who can't deal with reality. So you join this cult that simulates positive advocacy and progressive reform, but really, in truth is actually all about evading the specter of your own inner suffering. liberalism which is really collectivism proposes a world where individuals are absolved of moral culpability and spiritual accountability, just so long as they go along with and feed into the pre fabricated social consensus, a consensus in which there is no absolute truth, no higher purpose, and no essential meaning,

K

Kramer 21:38

no God, no spirit, no creation. So no final moral judgment can be levied against an individual and the consequences of their own choices. The collective will take your shame and sorrow, and cast the blame outwards, outwards to the perennial phantoms of injustice and inequality and prejudice, antagonists that can always be fought, but never overcome by design, a battle against oneself projected on the outside in which one can never prevail. But one can rage and that rage is harnessed by Empire, like a car uses gasoline, like a fire burns wood, used for their own ends, which are entirely set against human wellbeing. Of course, the socialist liberalism we see perpetrated by Empire today bears very little resemblance to the moderate principles of progress and reform and tolerance that once was associated with democratic party politics of the 1960s and John F. Kennedy. That was all executed along with that poor fellow.

N

Neil 22:29

K

Kramer 23:02

And if you study the connections, you can see why Empire had to get rid of him. So the liberalism we have now is something entirely different. liberalism delivers permanent diversion, perpetual, immersive distraction, with different levels of severity, depending on your social strata. If your life is okay, and reasonably comfortable, then you get hopeful dreams of community and change and safety and happiness. simulated compassion, mechanical lifeless virtue signaling, passive aggressive, forced positivity.

N

Neil 23:49

If your life is rubbish, and uncomfortable, and you're close to the gutter, then you get drive through quick fix radicalism, break the system, break people, no morality, nothing is true, everything is permitted. Next is the VA aleste ist lobbed a phrase sometimes remarked upon by old Friedrich nature, saying and that may have originated from an ancient Islamic militia group known as the Hashi on the assassins. They were like a covert Death Squad working for the state's intelligence services way back in Persia and Syria in the 11th century, some time ago now. What Empire offers people through their corrupt liberalism is a dangerously addictive but seemingly effective painkiller. The more discord someone has inside themselves, the more they are encouraged to spit their venom out. Word onto someone else. The more pain the more projection, diverting attention away from their own spiritual hollowness via permanent exteriorized dispute and blame. The more a person's anguishes spawn centrifugally outwards, the less they are disposed to look inward, where the real pain is where the real solution to that problem is. Pain and solution Yeah. And make no mistake when a person willingly and routinely and on remorse fully negates personal responsibility in favor of conveying guilt to an extraneous source. They are self harming.

K

Kramer 24:30

N

Neil 25:06

K

Kramer 25:46

They harm themselves and the people around them. Though they are told this wounding is the result of their being victimized by someone else. It's not their fault. It's Trump or Christians or heterosexuals or masculine men or family structures or the police or racism or economic disparity or gender or health care or something, anything, just not themselves. The fact that this scam of chronically and falsely relocating blame outside of oneself has become so normative does not in any way diminish its status as a paralyzing mental and spiritual illness.

N

Neil 26:27

It is. And now we've had generations of this collectivist sickness. Which Empire packages as liberalism, we observe a diseased international society, composed of countless people who spend their entire lives in a state of perpetual emotional, infantile ism. They don't want truth. They don't want mature life as the last thing they want. They would much prefer to live in their fantasy role playing world where unreal things appear true. They're not regressive. They're progressive. They don't comply. they resist. They're not asleep. They're woke. They don't give up. they persist. They don't divide, they unite. They don't separate. they coexist. They don't restrict speech. They promote civil liberties.

K Kramer 27:24
Imperial collectivism, aka liberalism replaces God with culture. Have you noticed that?

N Neil 27:33
You'll see very often that people who demonstrate a high degree of cultural immersion and perhaps even sophistication also frequently exhibit a corresponding spiritual impoverishment. It strikes me that liberal overindulgence and cultural ornamentation you know in our literature, music, theater, dining, socializing, and so on, all that, in reality, constitutes a pretty despairing attempt to fill their own divine world with something else.

K Kramer 28:03
But without God, there can be no essential purpose or peace, no art, no music, no advocacy, no fight, no campaign. Everyone knows that deep down in the bones and yet this stuff there spiritual void with cultural candy and artistic fluff. Now, as you know, I love art and music, and I love great food, but they are in no way comparable to the power and peace of spiritual life.

N Neil 28:35
They'll always be pretty low down on the totem pole. They are little fripperies little reveries, nice, but ultimately not important to think otherwise would be shameful self harming idolatry. So what does it take to turn all this around? Imagine being brutally honest with yourself

K Kramer 28:57
and realizing that you had everything upside down. You weren't resisting and waking and being progressive or anything remotely like that you are actually aiding and abetting world killing supernatural evil. Your shameful acquiescence and chosen stupidity made you an accomplice and accessory to evil.

N Neil 29:22
Imagine - with head bowed, you begin to take responsibility for yourself to face pain, be humbled, realize there is higher purpose and shock horror. Every individual is accountable and will be judged. And in this state of sincere, open minded honesty, to ask God for forgiveness, which he will gladly give. If it is indeed an honest and authentic admission of guilt. It's not just being said as an insurance policy.

K

Kramer 29:59

The path of Truth is open to everyone equally. Every day brings fresh opportunities to turn oneself around, reflect, contemplate, speak the truth, resolve to head northwards. I've seen people do it gradually. Finally, turn around do what 180 let go of their favorite drugs of blame and projection, have seen them get clean. We are not doomed to repeat endless generations of empires collectivist brainwashing of otherwise good people. We can't stop it.

N

Neil 30:40

We need not feel despairingly entombed in a narcissistic society that is normalizing psychosis. It is a choice, day by day, year by year. one person at a time. Love the truth. That's the antidote. Love the truth, learn it, share it tactfully. And a word here to all sensitive spiritual people for a moment, you. The world is undergoing mass destabilization, which will come to a very willfully oblivious, secular society is beginning to realize its own spiritual desolation and catastrophic disavowal. Countless lingering ancient evils and untruths, coming home to roost.

K

Kramer 31:28

And the current nonsense of fake plagues and fake racism, fake anarchy, fake gender, fake medicine, fake technology, fake culture, fake everything, each fake flavor serves as a focal point for serious mental and emotional collapse in people. their lifestyle of renouncing reality is catching up with them. You and I, dear listener, are unavoidably affected by this additional psycho spiritual pressure in the world right now. It weighs upon us.

N

Neil 32:02

Like the closeness in the app before a storm. It is a singular time. The whole of world society, you know, made up of our little towns and villages and cities all over the world is fracturing and aching and groaning under the weight of a lifetime of lies. Be mindful, therefore, to properly discriminate between the natural exertions from your own inner work, and the fatigue and grief from the dissolution of the world.

K

Kramer 32:35

It's easier than one might think to inadvertently conflate them. So I say to you again, contemporary liberalism has not organically grown upwards from the hearts and minds of the people. It's not a good thing. It is a vicious psychological deception, designed to call people's dignity, liberty and free will, to turn them away from everything divine. The loving teacher, the father of the all triune in nature, that is the chaos, the person of His deity numa the transmission of his immortal life giving spirit and lagace the manifestation in the flesh of his sublime creational word. liberalism, ignores, attacks, denies mocks all of that.

N

Neil 33:32

Shame on them.

K

Kramer 33:34

Behind Empire is a supernatural evil entity devoted to the spiritual desolation of humankind. I mean, that literally, I'm not speaking poetically or figuratively. Now. This supernatural warfare has been happening for a long time. Anyone can choose to see it if they wish, the truth is available. It is out there in life.

N

Neil 34:00

When we truly set our mind and our heart and our soul upon truth, we change everything around us in more profound ways than you can imagine. Your Grace, your sound mind, your Braveheart, your unique, singular, totally one pointed individuality. When you take all of those things together. When you turn those things toward godly life. You give Satan a black eye every morning you wake up, and Empire fades all the faster.

K

Kramer 34:42

You did say three kids by tour. It's unbelievable. I know. He's a bit eccentric. Perhaps his religion. You know, maybe he's a poly poly wants a polygamist? Yeah, yeah, one of the Salt Lake City mob. I think more Same guy but please get out with your winches a cop Can I help you?

N

Neil 35:12

Good evening.

K

Kramer 35:14

I'm from the Ministry of sex equality. I'm here tonight to explain the situation man to man. All we have to say now person to person. My name is Mr. stroke, Mrs. Barker. But I do not advise anybody to try. Due to this new law, no one is allowed to be called male or female man or woman. Now this has already caused a great deal of argument in Parliament. So they're all going for a parliamentary conference in Manchester. We now say person just stay in a nudist colony and hear their differences. But how does this affect you? When is it easy to become unsexed? Well, it can be done and I represent the proof off of me does.

N

Neil 36:01

The other half represents the proof. the first thing we have to realize is that for too long women have been beneath men. Not only in the home, but in the office as well. The main area of changing force will be in the language the man in the street will become the person in the street whoever you are with a man or woman you will be the person in the street. Incidentally, when I was in the street The other day I nearly fell down a person holds a certain professionals will have their names changed from the chairperson of a large company right down to the humble dust person. Not to be confused Of course with the famous film star Dustin Hoff-person.

K

Kramer 36:43

Speaking of films that will be special feature films made showing the equality of the sexes already in production a new musical called seven persons for seven other persons. starring Paul new person with choreography by Robert hell person. music by person divani and his oxygen.

N

Neil 36:59

dress.

K

Kramer 37:01

Dress Of course, you will be expected to dress like this this sort of costume is much too expensive. Half a knicker certainly doesn't cover it.

N

Neil 37:13

Each person can of course choose what to wear provided includes the customer's shirt bra on the pants and handbag. Choose to be black or brown according to individual taste I myself find that black shoes tastes rather better than brown ones. Jobs two will be entirely sexless with one or two obvious exceptions. What are they you may ask you may ask but I'm not telling on this burger. Here's a clue they have jam on them on the pier at tea time.

K

Kramer 37:39

Reason idea by the Ministry to avoid confusion is to call a man of doings and a woman thinking things no one and makes conversation clearer. As we instantly recognize the book or little thing is a musical called may fair thing, or the other play by George Bernard Shaw called doings and super doings.

N

Neil 37:59

There are times However, when it sounds better to stick to the word person, the person in the street is still better than the doings in the street. And that's something to look out for and steer clear of.

K

Kramer 38:11

Finally, finally, don't let this new law alter your life after all, What's in a name I know that whatever we are called my own dear thingy and myself we'll carry on as usual, wearing each other's clothes. However we the people are thought of by the Ministry tonight, all over Britain, all those things and doings will be together in front of the fire as usual. Good night.

N

Neil 39:00

During the Trojan War of a 12th century BC, after a rather lengthy and unproductive overt Siege of Troy, which at the time was an independent city, the Greeks decided instead to use a more covert means of attack. So they constructed a large wooden horse and hid a team of specialized soldiers inside it. And then the Greeks pretended to retreat in defeat. And after the smoke had cleared, the Trojans then pulled this giant wooden horse inside their city gates as a sort of victory trophy. And that night as the Trojans all slept, the Greek soldiers sneaked out of that horse, open the city gates, and let in the rest of the army, which ultimately resulted in the total destruction of Troy. And of course, from this, we get the metaphor of the Trojan horse, which has come to mean any stratagem that causes a target to willingly invite an enemy inside. liberalism is a Trojan horse. It pretends to be about equity and evolution, but it's really about division and de-spiritualization. It is against natural divine order.

K Kramer 40:00

N Neil 40:20
for a good while now it's been the perfect narcotic for dark forces to demean people into secular robot cultists. Communism, fascism, Marxism, socialism, liberalism, same thing. Transhumanists fantasizing that they can marry themselves to AI and reign supreme as monarchs of the earth, transcending morality and erasing nature, same thing, and it has to be said there are a disturbing number of Trojan horses at play in mainstream society. Some are rather unsurprising, frankly, but some are distinctly alarming. I would say prominent examples of Trojan horses today are the European Union, the United Nations, Planned Parenthood, American Civil Liberties Union, Black Lives Matter and Tifa Southern Poverty Law Center, the Federal Reserve, LGBTQ liberalism, secular humanism, transhumanism, common purpose vaccines, 5g, Google, Twitter, Facebook, Netflix, Amazon, Hollywood, Big Pharma, big agriculture,

K Kramer 41:23
half of life really total deceptions. The reality gap between the overt, quasi-legitimate front of these organizations, and their covert, real evil purpose is immense. And most employees and consumers and advocates of course choose through keeping their lenses dirty and distorted on purpose to know little or nothing about any of this treachery.

N Neil 41:52
Each Trojan horse attacks a different part of society. They all have specific targets to go after over the years. But they do all share one common goal, which is to turn people away from God by turning them away from a thirst for truth, for justice, for morality, for goodness, which leads to God.

K Kramer 42:17
The Trojan horse is trying to make goodness look lame, old-fashioned, uncool, to make truth seem judgmental and offensive, to make God seem antiquated, on just discriminatory surplus to requirement, a remnant from an age of primitive awareness quite unnecessary when we have science.

N

Neil 42:40

This is why many imperially conditioned people exhibit the common traits of superiority, passive aggression, and godlessness they've been trained to. Though of course, they sometimes pose as community focused and peaceful and virtuous. This facade, though, doesn't last very long in broad daylight, before it kind of rapidly bursts into flames from the heat of their own smoldering, self loving.

K

Kramer 43:15

As we remarked earlier, Empire needs our consent to do bad stuff to us. Because though satanic Empire is indeed innately wicked, it is nonetheless subject to divine ordinance. It cannot go against one's Holy Will, free will, the power of determination the choice and practice of good or evil. So Empire needs your signature as it were on each order of mischief that it issues and it harvests consent by the trick of constructive notice. It posts its intentions upon the notice boards of the newspapers, the media, the movie industry, TV, internet, educational institutions, dramas came errors, fictions of all kinds everywhere. We've talked about this before. We know this, but it's good to put it in this context here. And not only is it predictive programming as some commentators refer to it, but it's also a reaping of emotional submission silences consent, people's inaction, sanctions, empires evil so to turn things around we must say no, activate our refusal in heart Mind Body speak it write it illustrates it teach it broadcast it propagate it warranted in spirit is this. Sometimes we say no with splintering truth, and sometimes by way of elegant revelation. Truth dissolves on truth. The treacherous cannot withstand daylight Nemo, malice, Felix, the mainstream media plays a very important role in selling the illusion of the Trojan horses.

N

Neil 43:52

K

Kramer 44:21

N

Neil 45:21

Of course, the conventional media is nothing more than an intelligence operation always has been. The study the inception of the BBC come to see that it was always a propaganda tool. Straight up, they don't even hide it. It still is a propaganda tool. And some of their reporting today on subjects wide and diverse, ranging from Trump to 911, to Q to history, to ethnicity to war. I mean, it's amongst the most scandalous and obnoxious disinformation I've ever seen in my life. It makes me sick to the stomach as bad or worse even than CNN, NPR, New York Times and all that astonishing.

K

Kramer 46:02

And I think it's significant for us to draw our attention to the fact that the media's main role is to fabricate consensus.

N

Neil 46:12

To give you the impression that there is a received opinion on things, on people on ideas on places, they'll tell you what everyone's thinking what most people think, what the polls are showing, a lot of various persuasive advocates are wheeled out like kind of secondhand Daleks, who sort of looked apart and give the vague impression of fading mirages of consensus, but it's not true. You see, it's all just a game of belief. It's not knowledge. It's not truth. It's not reality. It's not just, it is by design, deceptive, unjust false. What you see from what we discussed earlier, that doesn't matter when your target audience don't want truth. Remember, they want collectivist drugs. They're on blame and projection, a bowl or two of that a day.

K

Kramer 47:03

So the media dish out. There are also as you know, different tiers of media for different kinds of people, the junk tabloid newspapers and trash websites with bite sized fried news nuggets for people with very short attention spans and bad informational diets, you know, the ones and then there's the slightly more apparently grown up content that one finds in places like NPR and BBC Radio for The Guardian, The New York Times, The Telegraph, The Washington Post, etc.

N

Neil 47:34

And I have to say it is this latter category that are to me, especially despicable, really revolting and perverse what they're doing to journalism. And as I record this in the early autumnal days of October 2020, there is such a flagrant incendiary reporting right now have anything to do with race isn't that wicked incitement to violence by the conventional media? Now, if that isn't a strong sign of collusion and evil, I don't know what is.

K Kramer 48:06

The language they use the misleading pictures, cynically chosen videos, the fear mongering tone, the false context, all designed to embolden a pre packaged narrative of systemic racism, totally fictional. These organizations and then many dishonorable journalists are trying to make us hate each other.

N Neil 48:29

Now, the further you go up the chain, only a tiny number of people need to be in on it, and know about the Satanism. The rest don't know anything about anything. Other than that, they like the benefits bestowed upon them by mysterious powerbrokers somewhere.

K Kramer 48:45

whispers of some dark sex sacrifice something or other but they don't really know. That's most acolytes. They don't know. Most a list actors, musicians, celebrities you've ever heard of, they are complicit. They shamefully feed into it, but they don't know. That just entertainers they have no wisdom. A few are okay, of course, but most now and a few of the really bad ones. They creep upwards and initiate into the dark order. They taken off. they acquire fat control file, a big old file full of their repulsive crimes and misdeeds. They are blackmailed. And they're given more humans and drugs to consume. They have handless they do and say as they are told in their life belongs to someone else.

N Neil 49:09

K Kramer 49:36

This information we're talking about here is freely available freely available outside of the mainstream, of course, but freely available, do you know about it? Do you want to know about it? Is it important that you know about it? Let me say a few words about Donald Trump. As I do get a lot of questions about this guy, what do I think of him? Is he good? Is he bad? Is he a Savior? What's going on? Is he with the secret project? Is he just deception? Is he a clever stooge? What What's going on?

N Neil 50:15

Trump God, not a magical Savior. But undoubtedly he is a massive nightmare for Empire. A giant pterodactyl in the ointment. I like him.

K

Kramer 50:29

He has done more good for America and the world than any other world leader I've ever seen in my life. One big major difference, however, is that you can't see some of the larger things he's done yet, because much of it is necessarily covert, necessarily behind the scenes. But we shall see these things in time. Trump speaks straight. He gets stuff done is not racist. Of course he's not big. It's sad. He's not xenophobic. He loves America. He knows it's exceptional, which it totally is. He doesn't talk shit to us. He is not exploiting Americans like Obama, Clinton and the bush is dead. He is not disloyal, like they were. Most people I speak to love Trump in every strata of society. At first they were quiet about it. But now I've noticed again, more vocal even though the media are trying to suppress that. And I talked to people in the street and cafes, airports, waiting rooms, supermarkets, whatever, just like everyone else. Most people like Trump. Thank God, they say thank God for Trump.

N

Neil 51:32

Now on the other side of things with every case of Trump derangement syndrome that I've witnessed, the ceding person was already pretty messed up already into blame, big style, already doing all of that before Trump showed up. And now he's here to them. Of course, Trump is the perfect target to receive that projected self loving, perfect, what a gift to them. Lovely. They love to hate, don't they?

K

Kramer 51:57

Donald Trump is an enemy of Empire. Therefore he is an ally to all those who wish to see satanic Empire and he is pro America good pro life pro equality of opportunity. Pro Christian pro honesty, pro constitution all good things. Pro family pro right to bear arms, great pro energy independence, pro manufacturing, pro history, pro military and law enforcement good pro dismantling the corrupt big tech and Big Pharma world killers good pro everything that I like.

N

Neil 52:31

So I like him. Not seen anyone else do that ever. Nowhere near. And Trump has also rescued more children and adults from human sacrifice and trafficking networks than he could believe. And we're talking millions here. But again, the full story on that would point to the mind blowing involvement of public figures in trafficking for decades that would send most of the nation into the loony bin. So Trump has to keep his job short on that. And sometimes he lets little clues out and things but he knows that the so called optics are relatively important in his campaign against Empire.

K

Kramer 53:07

And Trump is against the things that bind against socialism, communism, the swamp sedition, internationalism, forced diversity, leeches, illegal immigration, sanctuary cities, the sexualization of children. What a lot of people really struggle with concerning Trump is that he does destroy the old illusions people had about American political, cultural and business life. He sort of shatters the artifice of all the fake statesmanship and internationalism, you know, into a million pieces. He has brought decades of political posturing and deceit to an end in a few short years.

N

Neil 53:47

Sure, you know, JFK was all right in office, and Reagan, not too bad, too. But honestly, really, from November 1963, right through to January 2017. We've had 54 years of unscrupulous governance in the White House. And it goes back before that. So people just don't really have any idea of the magnitude of the evil empire that we've been under for so long. They've got no clue of it. None.

K

Kramer 54:22

It's not just a swamp in DC. It's a stinking sewer that stretches across Europe, Africa, Asia, and down to Australia to it's big in every area of life, not just politics throughout every segment of our life, this evil corrupts. And as I say, even in modern times figures like JFK and Reagan, although they might have been attempting to do something good, they were in an impossible position with deeply compromised and corrupt intelligence services all around them controlling families. No one had even heard of exercising enormous influence through giant corporations and huge banking.

N

Neil 55:00

cartels and as I say the compromised bad cells within the intelligence services, and all of this coming together to instruct the office of the president in what he can and cannot do, or get shot. People die in plane crashes, sudden heart attacks disappear all the time. Easy, easy to arrange. So after Johnson, Nixon, Ford Carter, all very deeply controlled and compromised. We had the outright debauchery of George HW Bush, Bill Clinton, George W. Bush and Barack Obama for 28 years. 28 years of evil. That's a long time 1989 to 2017 some people listening to this, that's that's your whole life.

K

Kramer 55:48

For the rest of us, it's a big part of our life. Donald Trump is not perfect. Where can I begin? He can be vulgar, he can be immodest, and very stubborn. But that and all the million other things so what I say can you think of a better person to do what he asked to do? When you position in between a population and Empire he is a shield, being pelted by arrows like a pin cushion. He is a battering ram, he is a heyoka to a challenger and exposer. He does things though, like no one else could no one. Anyone else would have been totally crushed or hopelessly corrupted by now, but not in his straight.

N

Neil 56:32

He's straight. Orange man, God. If you care about truth about reality, if you appreciate the Constitution, if you hate Empire, if you love Imperial relativism and collectivism, if you love all that is just in life, feel of freedom, and dos Trump the Democratic Party in America bolstered by the mainstream media wholly directed by Empire No, they cannot win in a straight fight. They cannot afford therefore to fight for they know they will lose. So they have an alternative strategy for the coming time social destabilization. This will not work it is already failing. Empire has miscalculated Empire, the old powerful empire How can it miscalculate? Because for the first time ever, they do not have the intelligence services and the military under their sway. They are in the dark, flying blind, lots of errors, some of them irreversible, cataclysmic.

K

Kramer 56:59

N

Neil 57:46

Which is a good thing. Even though the temperature, as you might say gets turned up uncomfortably hot for all of us now and again, better though, isn't it? Then our remaining cool and then remaining invisible and controlling? No blind hope here. By the way. No dreaming of saviors not Trump, not q not JFK, Jr. Not the Patriots. Not the secret ninjas. Not the reanimated hyperborean Elite Guard. And if Trump helps, and Q helps an unexpected secret figures help. Thank you. Fantastic. We'll take it hallelujah. Yes, please.

K

Kramer 58:24

But this is not the source of our power. From where then? What is the source of our power? From whom? Where do I find salvation? From whom do I get my bulletproof courage? Who made me? From where does all wisdom emanate? Who teaches the most sacred spiritual Navy SEAL instruction of all time? Who can I trust implicitly? Who loves me unconditionally? Who is my champion? My Guardian, who is always right, who is always good.

N

Neil 59:05

The classroom in the end ultimately shall go up in flames. We know this, but they're not the flames of man. They're not the flames of a human hand. They are eternal flames. disintegrated all of it when we graduate. The world by design finite, the matrix on rendered in fire. The elements themselves melt with fervent heat and all that dwelling light shall go forward and all that cannot will perish just

K

Kramer 59:52

COVID. where to begin on that. What a wild goose chase. What brazen chicanery. a Marvel to behold is it not? a striking and salutary tale, in what it looks like when an unthinking population places its ongoing blind trust in false authorities offer code and no knickers. a gold medal sign up, well done Empire.

N

Neil 1:00:28

Along with the age, shape and size of the Earth and World War One and to Darwinian evolution space, you've done it again, well done. A giant pretend plague on all the world wearing silly masks. Congratulations on another stupendous mountain out of a molehill.

K

Kramer 1:00:46

COVID is transparent tripe. And for those millions who know that, of course, they wonder why more people aren't looking into it and speaking against it's palpable falsehood. I mean, really, for anyone over the age of 12. It takes one afternoon, a few short hours to sit down and set about the task. A very straightforward, very methodical, factual research on COVID-19, get all the data, study it, think about it, compare it, it's not hard, then conclude. And then you have a quandary. Because you come to see that there is no big virus problem. Even if you believe the grossly inflated death figures, you still come up with less deaths than normal flow. People who were okay one minute parently get this thing, then drop over dead, tiny, tiny number. Even the CDC figures less deaths than the normal flow. So why are we wearing masks? Exactly.

N

Neil 1:01:24

K

Kramer 1:02:00

Even if you go along with germ theory, it doesn't make any logical sense. If you go with terrain theory, there is literally no problem. Whichever there is nothing to fear. behave in the usual manner. Look after yourself. Look after your well being eat well drink clean water spring water detox from time to time, heal your inner and outer heart boosts your immune system and your body will see off problems. You're more likely to be killed by a rampaging hippopotamus than COVID-19.

N

Neil 1:02:37

I can't get super worked up about this. I mean, the masks are funny to me. They make me laugh when we had natural wildfires last year here in Western Washington State and the year before I wore a bandana around my neck when I was hiking, and when the air was particularly bad because of the smoke, particulates and whatnot. I pulled it up off my face like a cowboy herding cattle on a dusty desert farm. So donning that bandana for me occasionally is no big deal. I mostly don't wear a mask, certainly not outside anywhere at all and many inside places it's not necessary either. So personally, I don't get wound up about masks. I know some people get very upset and militant about them. I don't I put one on very occasionally when I want to blend in.

K

Kramer 1:03:10

N

Neil 1:03:30

I exercise the operator protocol. And I've done so for a good 30 years now easily. It's a covert military or intelligence services principle very simple. Becoming the gray man dark blue jeans, dark shirt baseball cap car, no bling, blend on move on noticed then you can operate from within the belly of the beast stand out and you can't operate. Now used to me that I give Satan a black guy every day in a dozen different ways mostly as an operator exposing his rubbish tricks. The masks though do point to the larger question down there, which is why are so many otherwise sensible people buying into this provably artificial problem. COVID is not difficult to overturn. Why do people not see it? Because if an honest person realizes that COVID is largely if not entirely fictitious, and most world leaders and senior scientists have gone along with it, then what else is horribly untrue in our mainstream life? Probably a lot of things for a long time. If something that big can be that false, then it bodes ill for war, all the mammoth fairy tales we might be stood right on top of Sophie, you and me that's we used to have right? No big deal. But for the common person in the street, that is hard. So it's not really just the issue of is this virus thing as bad as they say?

K

Kramer 1:05:00

It's more of a foundational existential problem than that for many people. They're not at all prepared to conceive of the fact that they're in a fallen world and are undergoing a sacred spiritual warfare education that is not there. They don't even think God and evil are real things, let alone anything else. They think good and evil are movable personal, cultural, immutable ideas about human life. They don't know. They have a supernatural origin outside human life. They don't believe evil is coaxing them slowly, but surely, year by year to approach the precipice of total soul destruction. In penitent people launching themselves over the cliff into permanent nothingness, at death, souls deleted. How can this be because things like COVID demonstrate that most people don't want to think for themselves, they don't want to know they don't want to determine reality outside of the false consensus. They cannot imagine what sort of life that would lead to so they just go along, far easier, more secure, more comfortable, more predictable, more socially acceptable. This is death.

N

Neil 1:06:17

no interest in the sacred living Knowledge of Good and Evil right and wrong, true and false. no interest in farming the essential spiritual characteristics of love, humility, devotion, trustworthiness, competence, no interest in cultivating spiritual understanding and sharing it no interest in the deity that made them beckoning goes day by day to watch divine discovery to what the next phase of our life

The Immortal realm where our full human life truly begins, way up the dimensional ladder, a destiny offered to all everyone who ever lift, equal invitation. take your leave it when you love truth, when you are devoted to what is real, you will transform. The deeper you go into the divine classroom of Earth, the more you will change, your mind will change. Your heart will change, growth in theology, philosophy, devotion, atonement, capability, knowledge, humility, body, spirit, breath, life, touch, the cleaner the vessel of self, the more wisdom pours in what and on this path, you realize that some of the stuff you really thought you knew was wrong. And some things you didn't know what's all you come to discover a fresh and in so doing Of course, you will be needing to contradict yourself. If you are committed to knowing reality and are not contradicting yourself from time to time something has gone wrong, contradict the very word from the Latin contra de cheree. contra against the cheree say or speak, contradiction meaning therefore to speak against, to diverged from point A to point B, to speak against what you once said or thought, rather on surprisingly, in a real transformational life. If this wasn't happening, your truth pledge would be in question, would it not? When I was five years old, I thought Santa Claus was a real person or Father Christmas as we call them in Cheshire in England. And he magically came down the chimney and sips a glass of sherry and his reindeer nibbled on a carrot that my mom and dad left on a little table by the fire side. I've since come to contradict myself on that one.

K

Kramer 1:08:35

N

Neil 1:09:20

When I was 10 years old, I thought most adults know what's happening in the world. I have now contradicted myself on that one too. I once thought that the Earth was spinning around unremarkable star in an unremarkable galaxy. I once thought animal life evolved between species upward, from pond slime to fish to frogs, to monkeys to men. I thought everyone in the end makes it to the next world. I thought lots of things. And now with more fidelity and more experience in truth, more awareness of the construction of reality. I've changed my mind on things. I've contradicted myself Thank god. various things relating to metaphysics, theology, esotericism, emotional intelligence, science history, old views upgraded overcome some thrown out from time to time. When you care about what is real, you change your mind when you acquire and road test better proven living data. You contradict yourself no ego, no pride, no shame, no big deal. You spin on a dime. You say to yourself, damn, what's wrong about that? Can't believe it? I really thought that was a thing. Oh, well, who cares? Now I know. Now I know better.

K

Kramer 1:09:53

N

Neil 1:10:38

That's what counts. When one has zeal and a hunger for what is pure and factual. When you enrich your understanding of existence, you transform your mind, your heart, your flesh, spirit incinerates misconceptions reduces them to ashes. And in time, from those ashes arises, the real lovers of truth, are not interested in appearing right. But in being right, not in maintaining or defending an unchanged view over decades. But in finding truth. Above all else, how that looks to other people should be of pretty little significance, or better still, not at all, indeed, is healthily humbling is it not to change your mind on a big thing to be chastened by reality. And if you're in the public eye, in a big or small way, you'll have people disapproving when you change your mind. And some of those people are just confused, some are angry, and some are sad, because they want you on their side and emotionally unsettled. When you apparently defect to some other view.

K

Kramer 1:11:21

N

Neil 1:11:57

A few people who are projecting saintliness or or approachability or higher authority onto you, they will be very troubled when you change your mind on something. Because then it means you are not a saint, you are in pure, you just a regular old human dipstick like them. So you fail them, you changed your mind on something which you're not supposed to do. Gladly, I don't see too much of this a bit, but not much. I'm not my own ass enough to give the impression of mystical holiness. I'm just this guy thinking clearly feeling deeply, being honest, hungry for the truth. That's all you don't have to agree with what I think but I think most people who've been observing and sharing in my material for a little while now they know I'm dead serious about truth.

K

Kramer 1:12:43

I always make great effort to communicate with some degree of civility, decency, tact, consideration, maturity, eloquence, as far as I can. But some people are always going to be upset. And when you speak publicly, you get used to that after the first year or two, which was a long time ago from Hey, now. You learn to stop trying to please everyone and be the peacemaker all the time. It's not your job. Your job is to communicate as maturely as you can in the best manner you see fit, end of story.

N

Neil 1:13:13

All any of us ever really do is share our take on reality. And when you see things in that light, you start to recognize that it is often unnecessary to explain yourself. You don't need to quantify or excuse or justify anything. If I say I think reincarnation is rubbish, that's it. I don't need to say why. If I say liberalism is daft, I don't need to substantiate that I may choose to, I may give a full treatment to why I think such and such a thing. Whether in a brief recording like this, or a longer workshop recording or a book form a long form or personal teaching sessions over decades with some people.

K

Kramer 1:14:00

And I think that's a very important and empowering and inspiring thing for us to remember it is a healthy thing to cease to feel like we need to explain and justify our thoughts and actions to people. It can be wonderful, of course to share our reasoning and speculations and analysis with mature people with those people who have a proven track record of applying wisdom and spirit and reason in their own life. And with such mature people, it is just lovely to talk. And sometimes it is even more pleasing to listen to that expositions, their elevations of wisdom and feeling to attend, to gather, to witness.

N

Neil 1:14:42

To thirst for the truth is to compel change. inside and out. You change yourself for truth. You do not change truth for yourself. You cannot. The times we live in today demonstrate this perhaps better than any other historical period I can think of the speed and reach of communication, the breadth and depth of the information at our fingertips. The availability of truth, the extreme intense polarization between good or evil, right wrong, true false, right in your face. No one has any excuse not to care about reality, Empire is dying.

K

Kramer 1:15:28

And the giant fake society is built upon it must therefore necessarily fall. These things happen because on truth cannot go on mud, literally. And this is a good thing. So though the world has gone mad, and it is strange and difficult to behold, it is prophecy. It is known it is necessary. Can Empire when? No. is evil, more powerful than good? No.

N

Neil 1:16:01

Did Europe and America and Asia and Africa have fantastic beautiful functioning mature societies anyway? No. We're the science and education and technology and business world built on integrity and devoted to truth? No. So do we really want things to go completely back to normal? No. Does it make us a little uncomfortable to see culture imploding? Yes. Is it sad to see how needlessly painful everything is? Yes. Is it intellectually and emotionally tiring to deal with people who love on truth? Yes. are a lot of things in the world going to be permanently different from now on? Yes. Might our personal plans and routines have to change? Yes. Might we suffer? Yes.

K

Kramer 1:16:59

Should any of these things unduly concerned children of God? Now? Do you know your glorious spiritual heritage? Do you know your eternal destiny? To know we must devote ourselves to what is true to what is good and to seek God with all our heart. When we remember these things, we know that the peculiar happenings of life especially now serve always and only to strengthen us, to teach us to enrichers
